www.immanuelevanston.org

We believe that faith should feed and nurture our spirits.
We believe also that faith should lead us to feed people in the many different ways they hunger, both physically and spiritually.

Some Food for Thought from the Pastor

Immanuel's Church Council has been engaged in visioning conversations about the connections that we have and the bridges we can build to the Evanston community. I want to invite everyone in the congregation to participate in this visioning process and then share your thoughts and ideas with council members. Hosting the Winter Farmers Market is one of the main ways that we connect to the wider community. Do you have any creative ideas for our advocacy table? Are there other ways that we might strengthen this link? We're moving forward on installing a Little Library box in our courtyard, and we've talked about adding a bench there as well. Perhaps we could use our parking lot for a music concert, or an Oktoberfest or some other community social event. What other ways might we utilize our outdoor space as a bridge to the community?

The council also passed a motion in February to join with other Evanston faith communities in support of Evanston Reparations. There will be a noon kickoff event on Monday, June 13th at Fountain Square. Reparations is much more than just a financial transaction. It's an educational process seeking awareness and clarity about historic injustice. As our joint Interfaith declaration declares: For more than fifty years, a faithbased movement has been growing in this country in support of reparations for Black Americans. The movement began in part with the 1969 Black Manifesto that asked which Christian churches and Jewish synagogues to contribute $500 million as an act of good faith and true repentance. The concept of reparations has recently gained new momentum from the notoriety afforded the 2020 murders of George Floyd, Breonna Taylor and Ahmaud Arbery. Partly as a result, an increasing number of white Americans have become aware of the enormous disadvantages for people of color, in their access to housing, health care, nutrition, education and job opportunities and, especially, in their treatment by law enforcement and their disproportionate incarceration...The intention of reparations is twofold: (1) to acknowledge and compensate for the harm that pervasive structural racism has caused to our society and to individuals; and (2) to move forward by reconciling ourselves with our past. This is important for all Americans, not just for Black Americans.

Immanuel congregation began this journey by forming an anti-racist task force before I was called as your pastor, and I commend all of you who participated in a variety of ways to learn more about systemic racism this past year. These programs of learning have been another way that people outside of our congregation have been involved and thus in some way connected to Immanuel. I look forward to our ongoing learning together as we join in God's mission of reconciliation and healing of our broken world. Remember, as followers of Christ we abide in hope, faith, and love.

Deep Blessings,

Paster Mark

Feeding Our Faith – Sundays 9 AM—10 AM

Is taking a break for the summer. See you in September!

Music at Immanuel

June Music

June marks the last two Sundays with our choir before they take the summer off. On Pentecost, we will join Grace Lutheran for a raucous Moses Hogan arrangement of "God's Gonna Set This World on Fire."

Then we will close out the choral season with Richard Shephard's "When Silence Filled the Formless Night." It has been a wonderful season back in the loft in person. Blessings to you all.

Special June Worship Services

June 19th—We will commemorate Juneteenth, which has at long-last, become an American Federal holiday. Juneteenth is a holiday that commemorates the end of slavery in the United States.

Remembrance of the Emanuel 9, Martyrs, 7th Anniversary

Also this Sunday we remember before God the beautiful lives of nine members and pastors of Emanuel African Methodist Episcopal Church, murdered by a self-professed white supremacist on June 17, 2015, while they were gathered for prayer and Bible Study. At the 2019 ELCA Churchwide Assembly, this day was set aside as a day of June 26th—Pride Sunday. Jesus says: Whoever welcomes you.... welcomes me! Jesus reminds us that each of us, made in the very image of God, bears the presence of God's love for one another.

As a loving out loud congregation, Immanuel celebrates the gifts and giftedness of members of the LGBTQIA+ community in the church and the world.

Immanuel Hosts Overnight Shelter

From Easter Sunday night through the end of April, Immanuel participated for the first time in the Emergency Overnight Shelter (EOS) program coordinated through Interfaith Action of Evanston. Now in its second decade, EOS has grown steadily. At first offering shelter between the middle of November to the middle of March and only when the over- Interfaith night temperature was predicted to fall below 15 degrees, this year (2021-2022) shelter was provided from the beginning of November through the end of April regardless of the temperature, a full six months. It's no longer just for emergencies.

Immanuel was one of seven congregations hosting the shelter. Extending the shelter through the end of April made Immanuel's participation possible, given our commitment to the Indoor Farmers Market through the first Saturday of April. (The shelter used the same downstairs room that the Indoor Farmers' Market use.)

Immanuel's participation in the EOS program was facilitated by our Social Ministry committee, led by Nicolai Schousboe. In Nicolai's absence for a long-planned April vacation, I served as the on-site coordinator. Other volunteers from Immanuel were Anne Heider, Diane Keely, Michael Kloster, Bert Mount, and Laurie Stivers. Immanuel's volunteers helped out in two shifts: set-up, from 8:30 pm and 10 pm, and clean-up, from 6:00 am to 7:00 am. Two paid staff directed these tasks as well as staying overnight with the guests.

Several of our volunteers found the IA staffers "friendly and clear on their directions on how we could help," as Laurie put it. Anne said that the volunteer shifts required less work than did the afternoon warming shelter we offered in 2019-2020. Reflecting on the IA staff people he worked with, Michael said, "I have heard it said, 'God's army doesn't arrive with tanks.' But, it is always eye opening to witness the meek at work." Everyone who responded to my request for their feedback said they hoped Immanuel could be part of the overnight shelter program next year.

History of Lutheran World Relief (LWR) Quilt Ministry

Have you ever wondered how Lutherans started making quilts for distribution around the world? Great question! Here is some of the history that was posted on the LWR Quilters & Kit Makers Community Facebook page...

The quilting ministry at LWR started in the early 1950's. In addition to the information you all found on our website, we have an account written by a former staff member Ove Nielsen sometime in the 1990's that includes the following:

"The Church of the Brethren, one of the historic "peace churches" in America, owns and operates a large processing center in Maryland. More than 4 decades ago the late Ray Kyle, then the church's Director of Material Aid, visited LWR for which it was processing some of the clothing and blankets, as it was for several other Christian entities. Chatting with a staff member, he suggested Lutheran women might be interested in making quilts, as Brethren women did. LWR staff saw the suggestion as viable, but sought counsel from overseas partners. Letters were sent to a few countries in each of Europe and Asia. The first response came from Madras (now Chennai) in India. Quilts would be welcome indeed. They would be especially useful following heavy rains. Other partners responded describing their needs.

"Research suggested all quilts should be of the same size - 60 X 80 inches.

Variance could cause envy if some got smaller ones. Letters were sent to leaders of Lutheran women's organizations throughout America. They promoted the idea and making quilts for LWR caught on. Some groups made patchwork quilts in order to make as many as possible and at low cost. Others would make only the kind they would want in their own homes. All were welcome. Occasionally women elected to make quilts at home and to work alone. A few such individuals have each made more than 100. Making each quilt includes batting, layering, pinning, tying and hemming. Batting alone costs $66 (in 2022: $110) per roll, for which provision must be made. Sixty inches wide, the roll, carefully cut-across at each 80 inches, is enough for 30 quilts.

"Through the more than 4 decades, over 14 million quilts have been made and sent to 4 continents. Presently thousands are positioned in Jordan for rapid transfer to Iraqi refugees. Quilts have brought comfort where comfort was sorely needed. In 1976 Dr. Robert J. Marshall, then President of the Lutheran Church in America and of LWR, accepted an invitation to attend the Eucharistic Congress of the Roman Catholic Church. It would be convened in Philadelphia. While there, he was invited to meet the late Mother Theresa, who saw in the faces of the suffering, the face of Christ. As he was introduced, Mother Teresa leaned forward, looked up at his face, and said: "Thank you for the guilts."

"The late pastor Bill Genszler, who through years of his ministry had promoted the making of hundreds of thousands quilts in Wisconsin and Upper Michigan, was dying of cancer. When his wife returned from helping to make quilts in their church, she told him the women were going to make a special one to drape over his coffin. The pastor, always cheerful, exclaimed: "Ah, a Holy Comforter!" It was a stunningly beautiful quilt and so large that it touched the floor on both sides of the coffin."

New Opportunity to Serve!

After more than 5 years in the post of Immanual's Kitchen Manager, Tom Couch is ready to pass the torch. Thank you so much, Tom, for the leadership you have provided in filling this role.

The role of Kitchen Manager is central to Immanuel's mission, "Faith that Feeds". By law, to be able to offer missions such as Cafe Immanuel, Curt's Cafe and other ministries where our kitchen is used to serve the public, we need a certified Food Safety Manager.

If you feel called to help Immanuel feed the hungry, we will support you in obtaining the necessary certification! Please contact Michael Kloster at 630.217.1570 or mikekloster@gmail.com to learn more.

Thank you, Tom! In addition to serving this vital role, you will help me by being able to give an answer to Parker as to when he can start helping make waffles at Cafe Immanuel, which he asks me at least three times per week!

God Bless.
